Introduction:

As per the universal concept astrology is divided in to two ie., Vedic astrology and Western astrology. Vedic astrology used the Nirayan method of prediction whereas western astrology Sayan method. In vedic moon sign is important and in western astrology sun sign is important. In vedic astrology Uranus, Neptune, Pluto are not taken into consideration where as in western astrology these three are very important. In Vedic astrology Ragu Ketu as Chaya grah, North and south nodes are being given importance while predicting a horoscope which is not taken into consideration in the western method. In western method they consider the tilting of the earth into 230 on its axis. Each of these systems of Astrology has been developed by well acclaimed astrologers who dedicated their lives to Astrology. Vedic Astrology is known to make precise predictions. Both the systems of Astrology are highly efficient and deliver results that are accurate. Each of the systems of Astrology is special. Every Astrologer sets a preference to a system of Astrology. Astrology, a divine science. It is a purely predictive science only and its demand and utility is also because it is a predictive science. According to nature each and every thing is working in some pattern, in the life of a microbe, in weather, in human life and situations etc. which repeat at a given point of time. Predicting the emergence of such patterns at a particular time using horoscope (Rasi, Navamsa, Dasabhukthi) is what an astrologer alone can do.

Career Prediction Method:

In ancient Vedic astrology, astrologers used to make predictions based on the birth chart only. Later on, Astrologers engrossed themselves deep study, and thus evolved different systems of astrology. Some of the Astrology systems are Parasharivarga chakras, Jaimini, Bhirigu Nandhi Nadi Method, Lal Kitab, Ashtakavarga and Krishnamoorthy Padhathi. There was a phase in history, when, due to different cultures settling in India, Vedic Astrology had been buried deep within. Now- a-days astrologers are making predictions not only using the birth chart horoscope which consists of Rasi and Navamsa, and Dasabhukthi but also they are using vargachakras to make accurate predictions. Earlier, the scope of occupation was very few only. Not only that- people used to carry over the job done by their earlier generation. But of late, the things are entirely different. So many scopes are spread over related to job and they get confused while choosing the perfect job that matches with them. Now a day's most of the astrologers are using shodasavarga chakras for prediction method each one represent different life aspects. Astrologers are using charts such as Hora, Trekana, chaturthamsa, panchamsa, shashtamsa, sapthamsa, ashtamsa, navamsa, dasamsa, ekadasamsa, dvadasamsa, vimsamsa, shastiamsa to predict each aspects of the native. Also using Ashtavarga. Among the nine planets Each and every planet's bhinnashtakavarga represents the strength and weakness of the planet. It will be useful to predict based on that. Also shadbala is one concept which helps to know the strength and weakness of the planet. Even though there are several systems of Astrology, it would be difficult for a layman to discern the best Astrology system. Only highly accomplished Astrologers could be bestowed that right.
